ANALYSIS AND EVOLUTION OF THE PICTOGRAM

STORYTELLING AND COLORS OF THE NEW PICTOGRAM

Thanks to the rebranding process, the two traditional symbols of the BCCs (the double-crossed cc) and the Casse Rurali Trentine (the fascio clesiano) were replaced by a single symbol: the three squares pictogram. This symbol becomes the visual representation of the brand's meanings.

The square, a founding element of the entire identity, is used as a common thread to portray vigor, closeness and belonging. It is a symbol that represents the common identity that the banks Società del Gruppo and Capogruppo have forged. The three intertwined squares represent three elements which, joined together, add up to something greater: the Group.

The brand therefore becomes a depiction of the Group's strategic-value positioning, which stands out as different and distinct in the scope of the credit sector.
